We have a new look, now it's your home's turn

The readers spoke and we listened. Welcome to the the first issue of Creative Designer's Home & Design magazine, the latest and greatest publication from AZ Big Media, the minds behind Az Business, Ranking Arizona and six other Arizona-based magazines.

You, the readers, said you wanted us to create a new look for the Creative Designer magazine, so we redesigned and re-energized the publication to showcase those products and services that will help you turn your house into your oasis. Creative Designer's Home & Design magazine is filled with more information to guide you to Arizona's best home products and packs the visual impact needed to showcases Arizona's amazing designers, showrooms and services.

Distribution of Creative Designer's Home & Design magazine has expanded to include more than 50 select showrooms and retail locations throughout the Valley and is also available as a digital publication at azbigmedia.com.

Most of the advertisers are presented in an over-sized, two-page format to help them inspire you to create the home of your dreams. With today's technology, people may search online, but magazines help readers see, touch and get a better sense of products and services, which inspires them to buy locally. We encourage you read through Creative Designer's Home & Design magazine, become inspired to create the home of your dreams, and then visit our advertisers and let them know you saw them featured in Creative Designer's Home & Design magazine.

Thank you and happy shopping.

Elizabeth A Rosensteel Design Studio, LLC

4350 E. Camelback Rd., #G-250, Phoenix
602.522.0989
rosensteeldesign.com

Elizabeth Rosensteel makes space dance. She sculpts it. She molds it. Abandoning traditional assumption of interior design, she wraps objects around an interior, granting them an artefactual status lost in the Victorian curio cabinet and even the most contemporary thing-stuffed room that offers so much it offers nothing.

5 TRENDS YOU NEED TO KNOW

Interior Design

Wiseman & Gale Interior Design: Designers Patty Burdick & Holly Ogden, photo Werner Segarra

WHITE HOT

Most people do not realize that there are 96 shades of white, and more people are exploring the variations to give rooms subtle hue changes. Other experts say warm materials such as terracotta tiles will soon replace currently popular cool and white tones.

OPEN DESIGN

More people recognize that the kitchen is the heart of the home and they are opening up the space so that family and friends can gather around during meal preparation. Open kitchens and great rooms are must-have items for 2017.

FARM LIVING

Farmhouse and country chic has evolved from being based in dark-toned woods to additionally including lighter wood finishes and softer color schemes. It is now often seen overlapping with Industrial style products, particularly in light fixtures and exposed plumbing.

HOME REMOTE CONTROLS

With products such as Nest or Smart Home, consumers can manage security, temperature, lights, window shades and other features from their smart phones even if they are traveling.

MIXING AND MATCHING

Mixing metallics and metals is a hot trend in fashion design collections right now, and it is no different in interiors. Midcentury Mod with brass, gold and metallic finishes are popular right now. Expect to see this trend everywhere.

5 TRENDS YOU NEED TO KNOW

Art + Accessories

STATEMENT ART

Forget the gallery wall. It's so passé, according to UGallery. What's hot is statement art. Large pieces - more than 5 feet - were searched four times more than small art. These statement pieces, especially tightly cropped scenes, provide designers with the "wow" factor they used to seek from an eclectic mix of smaller works

FEELING BLUE

Blue art is having a moment. This in-demand hue is a great choice for calm rooms. Experts say most blue art is peaceful and serene, perfect for decorating. Experts say to look for artwork with multiple shades of blue so that it can play off different color tones in the rest of the room.

MINERALS

While polished goods have been all the rage, minerals are going au naturel now. Watch for bowls of pyrite on tables, big chunks of quartz used as display pieces and unpolished semi-precious stones turned into door pulls.

STREET PHOTOGRAPHY

Sales of street photography rose 41 percent in 2015. The rise in popularity can be attributed in part to social media because many people want to re-create the artful and emotionally charged scenes they see in their Instagram feeds.

PATTERNS

While stark black and white was the color palette of choice last year - think black abstract paintings in the living room and clean white subway tile in the kitchen - this year, pops of pattern are moving in. When selecting a patterned piece, experts say it's important to consider where it will be hung.

5

TRENDS
YOU NEED
TO KNOW

Cabinetry, Kitchen + Bath

GETTING HORIZONTAL

Squares and vertical rectangles are still the preferred designs for kitchen cabinets, but according to experts, there is a rise in horizontal cabinetry. As cabinets get wider, there is less of a need to stack cabinets (if you have enough storage). This not only makes access much easier, but gives your kitchen a cleaner, more refined look.

NEUTRALS

Along with the clean line theme, white kitchen cabinets are still quite popular, but gray, along with other neutral colors have begun to set up shop. Many homeowners are opting for refined neutral colors and earthy tones that work well with a variety of design elements.

TUXEDO CABINETS

Mix up a kitchen's color palette with Tuxedo cabinets. Homeowners can do a literal interpretation with black and white, but experts suggest using other complementary colors, such as navy blue and soft gray, for a softer contrast.

SHAKE IT

Along with the classic black and white, shaker style cabinets have remained in vogue for years. At first glance, some associate shaker as a plain, square design that doesn't leave much room for imagination. However, many more attractive versions of the shaker have come to life since the 1800s.

CLEAN LINES

Two other dominant trends for kitchen cabinets are clean lines and subtle designs. To ensure design flexibility in the long term, cabinet door styles have become simpler, using clean lines.

Vallone Design's residential interior design portfolio spans from traditional and fresh designs to whimsical and modern spaces - all while flawlessly creating timeless and customized looks that match each client's personality.

5 TRENDS YOU NEED TO KNOW

Flooring

BAMBOO

Bamboo has been trendy for a long time, but we will be seeing an explosion of colors and styles. While technically a fast-growing grass, bamboo is as hard or harder than most hardwoods when dried. Newer products called strand-woven bamboo, a highly engineered product using the inner fibers, are twice as hard as traditional bamboo flooring. Bamboo is offered in wide-plank styles that mimic the look of classic hardwoods.

RECLAIMED WOOD

Classic looks using new technology will be popular in flooring. An example of that is reclaimed hardwood. New factory-finished hardwood flooring offers all the charm of reclaimed timber - right down to that timeless hand-hewn look - but without the high costs associated with true salvaged lumber. Factory-finished wood will stand up to moisture fluctuations better than any wood flooring that is finished onsite.

PATTERNS

Geometric is the big thing. Decorative backsplashes have been going strong in the design world for a long time. Designers are expecting to see consumers gravitating towards more geometric patterns that feature fluid movement. Whether it is a backsplash, an intricately patterned floor or a countertop, fluid geometry is coming.

CARPET

In the world of carpet, expect to see far fewer shags and friezes and more patterned carpets. By using a technique that combines both loops and cut loop — hence the name "cut-and-loop carpet" — manufacturers can create a carpet with patterns that range from subtle to bold. New technology also is producing carpet with incredibly soft fibers. Carpet pads with high-quality dense rubber will be replacing the

TILE

The world of tile is seeing an explosion of sizes, shapes, materials and patterns. Particularly popular these days are large-format tiles — tiles that come 12" x 24" and even 36" x 36". In addition to looking great, larger sizes mean more tile surface and less grout lines to clean.

5 TRENDS YOU NEED TO KNOW

Furniture

ONE OF A KIND

Individuality is fundamental when it comes to home furniture. Exquisite personal customization and handmade pieces have gotten a lot of attention lately. Custom furniture looks exclusive; it is made of top-quality materials and it is crafted after the personal preferences of the buyer.

EXPOSED FRAMES

The only conceivable way to save money on a new sofa is buying one that flatpacks for cheaper shipping. But of course, flatpack doesn't suggest the comfiest of cushioned seating — until now. The newest group of upholstered seating involve a king's ransom of swathed and scrunched pillows on top of a rigid structure.

VERSATILITY

Multifunctional, versatile furniture is catching on. With space at a premium, buyers want furniture that can perform multiple tasks and reduce clutter.

ECO-FRIENDLY

More furniture vendors are choosing to go green. This trend is driven by environmental concerns, such as deforestation. While eco-friendly furniture is more expensive, the demand has increased, making it worthwhile for manufacturers to offer these products.

ENTRY FOYER BENCHES

Eco-friendly design suggests that people remove their shoes and outerwear in the foyer to prevent toxins from entering the home. More people are adding a place in their mudrooms or entry foyers for this purpose.

5 TRENDS YOU NEED TO KNOW

Lighting

SMART LIGHTBULBS

Smart lightbulbs might be one of the most important lighting inventions of the last decade. Smart lightbulbs can benefit any lighting design and applications — from aesthetic purpose with their color-changing feature and built-in speakers to efficiency boosting features with smart scheduling and automation from your mobile phone.

OVERSIZED FIXTURES

Fixtures, as well as other decorative accents, are commonly sized in proportion to the size of the site to achieve balance. However, this year's trend is going in the opposite direction. Acting as a centerpiece of the room, the big fixture can act as a statement pendant, bringing boldness to an otherwise dull room of any size.

NATURE INSPIRED

The nature-inspired design has been a hit at trade shows and it has caught the public attention to be one of the hottest upcoming lighting trends. Organic-shaped fixtures will soften any room to create a natural accent and instantly fills the void of an otherwise bare space.

DC COMES BACK

AC won the battle to be the favorable electric current back in the 19th Century. However, the trend is currently shifting in favor of the DC currents. Tesla announced the lithium-ion household battery, Powerwall, and other big players like Samsung, Schneider Electric, and Panasonic are following.

INDUSTRIAL FIXTURES

Industrial lighting design coupled with the overall industrial-themed interior design, which is the current trend for the year. Think it might be a fad? The design community suggested that it will stay for several years to come.

TO KNOW

Architectural Trends

IN-HOME SPA

Houses are becoming a destination for their owners as they turn away from health clubs and implement their own fitness and relaxation areas into the comfort of their own home.

Examples of this are the increasing amount of home gyms, hot tubs, whirlpools, steam rooms, and spa-influenced bathrooms.

LARGER WINDOWS

Larger windows add beauty to a room by bringing the view of the outdoors in. They can also contribute to a passive home. A passive home, also known as energy efficient, uses large windows with low-e glass to reduce artificial lighting while also obstructing heat and harmful UV rays.

OPEN CONCEPT

Gone are the days where every room had a door and four walls. Instead of traditional rooms, there are now implied spaces. These spaces connect to each other without obstructions creating minimalistic interior design.

FLEXIBLE ROOMS

Tying in with open concept design, homes are including more and more spaces that have less defined purposes. Modern architects are now designing flex rooms with the ability to easily transform into a new area without a complete makeover or costly renovation.

KITCHEN FOCUS

Kitchens are getting bigger—what was once hidden away is now the epicenter of every home. The dining room has begun to fade as seating space is now being included as part of the kitchen.

5

TRENDS
YOU NEED
TO KNOW

Landscape, Pool + Patio

EATING RIGHT

Pots of fresh herbs, lettuce and other easy-to-grow fruits and vegetables add texture and color variety to outdoor landscapes. Container gardens and portable living wall planter systems, which take up less space and require less care, make it easier for those with space and time constraints and provide a supply of fresh ingredients right out the back door.

MAKE IT YOUR OWN

Fully customized outdoor living spaces will be hot. Backyard entertaining used to revolve around a deck, patio or pool, but today's landscapes have become extensions of interior spaces, complete with furniture, appliances and romantic canopy bedrooms. Comfortable living and dining rooms with weatherproof furnishings, built-in bars, brick ovens and fireplaces, even outdoor movie theaters, are transforming the way people enjoy the outdoors.

OUTSIDE IN

From decorating compact apartments with greenery to turning expansive backyards into glamping adventures, consumers are experimenting with how to bring nature into every aspect of their homes. Another big trend – consumers will be buying furniture they can use indoors and outdoors.

LIGHTING

Installing solar-powered lighting or energy-efficient LED lights is another way landscapes are going green. LED lighting has made it much more feasible to add creative and functional light displays in gardens and Backyard Wi-Fi, TV and audio systems are other ways outdoor landscapes are going high-tech.

BACK TO NATURE

Native plants help attract birds, insects and wildlife, but they also help manage rainwater runoff, stop the spread of invasive species and support the larger ecosystem. Naturescaping encourages the use of perennial native plants and grasses to design environmentally conscious landscapes.

TRENDS YOU NEED TO KNOW

Marble, Stone + Granite

MARBLE

The marble "look" has started to pop up in everything from fashion to interior design pieces. Marble countertops add unmatched beauty to a kitchen. Although marble does stain and scratch more easily than granite, its smooth, cool surface is ideal for baking and rolling out dough. Marble is one of the most expensive options in kitchen countertops.

SOAPSTONE

Durable soapstone countertops become more beautiful with age, darkening over time for a dramatic appearance. Unlike other stones, soapstone won't absorb stains and discolorations, so it doesn't require sealers. Surface stains can be removed with a gentle sanding, and scratches can be removed with mineral oil.

GRANITE

One of the most sought after materials in kitchen countertops, granite serves as a beautiful, durable heat-resistant surface for meal preparation and daily use. Granite countertops are fairly low maintenance: a yearly resealing will help prevent stains and bacteria growth.

ENGINEERED STONE

An attractive alternative to natural stone, engineered stone countertops - composed of 93 percent quartz particles - are catching up with granite in popularity. Quartz countertops are scratch-, stain- and heat-resistant and require very little maintenance.

ECO-FRIENDLY

Formed from materials such as fly ash or recycled paper, composite countertops inhibit the growth of bacteria and resist stains, scratches and heat. Most are free of VOCs, emit no radon gasses, and are considered food safe.

5 TRENDS YOU NEED TO KNOW

Windows + Shades

SLEEK LINES

Simple, sleek lines are dominating window fashions in everything from flowing drapes to chrome decorative hardware. Creating sleek silhouettes against a window instantly lends a clean, modern look to any window and room. A quick way to get truly streamlined treatments is with popular panel-track systems. Influenced by Asian shoji screens, these panel-track treatments can look contemporary or European, depending on the fabric.

COVERED IN COLOR

We've seen white paired with black or navy. Experts say blue is becoming the new "red" in the window treatment industry, with a variety of ocean hues in teal, aquamarine and soft green. Soft lavender and gray, dusty hues round out the soothing part of this palette.

RICH FABRICS

Luxury fabrics key in this category are silks, velvets, damasks, fur, leather and suede, according to experts. While the overall design trend leans toward simplicity, this trend will remain popular with those who desire embellishment and luxury.

BAMBOO

Trend watchers say decorative hardware had been dominated by metallics and sparkle for quite a while, but now trends are returning to wood and natural textures. Bamboo is also popular for its sustainable, environmentally-friendly quality.

MECHANICAL WINDOW SHADES

There are more people using window shades that can move up and down with remote controls – for energy efficiency, protection of furniture/artwork or security to make it appear that someone is home.
